

Please, please do not let this group of banks subvert the intent of the Telephone Privacy List. They have more than enough access to their customers without unrequested solicitations over the telephone. To allow this group its request would open the door to other special interest groups requesting exemption from this regulation also, and the eventual destruction of its effectiveness. The Telephone Privacy List is one of the best things the government has done for us lately, and it would be most unfortunate if corporate greed were allowed to circumvent or eliminate it.

Thank You.
